2 Corinthians Series
Forgiveness

2 Corinthians 2:1-10

Paul lived at the same time as Jesus, and traveled all over, telling people about Jesus. He wrote a letter to his friends in a city called Corinth. The people all read the letter together.

“Dear Friends, last time I visited, John treated me very badly. I told you John should have consequences.”

“Yeah,” Atreus said, “we took care of that John guy. He got what he deserved!”

They continued reading, “You were all too hard on John! I forgave him. You need to forgive him now and tell him how much you love him.”

The people were surprised. “Oh,” said Nyssa. “I guess we were kinda mean to him. Let’s listen to Paul and forgive John.”

Paul knew that God wanted the people to love and forgive each other and live together in peace.
